

Where did summer go? It feels shorter and shorter every year, taking with it those fleeting flavors of the season's bounty. But we are lucky here in the Monterey Bay area, where we can practically serve Caprese salad on our holiday tables. Who knows what the weather will bring this year? By the time you are reading this, perhaps there's been an early grape harvest or maybe it won't be until late October. But the whims of our climate and calendar keep things interesting. So savor the change, revel in each appearance of a newly picked piece of seasonal produce at the market and don't worry too much about saying goodbye to summer...she will return before we know it.
